DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-23, drawn to a pattern formation process, classified in class 430, subclass 311.
 - II. Claims 24, 26 and 27, drawn to microdevices, classified in class 257, subclass 1.
 - III. Claim 25, drawn to a photomask, classified in class 430, subclass 5.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions of Group I and Group II are related as process of making and product made.

The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the process can be used to make a materially different product, such as a photomask used to transfer patterns to a substrate. Group II claims are product-by-process claims.

Product-by-process claims are not materially limited by the process limitations recited in the claim, but instead are limited by the structural features of the product itself.

3. Inventions of Group I and Group III are related as process of making and product made.

instant case, the process can be used to make a materially different product, such as an integrated circuit used in electrical equipment. The Group III claim is a product-by-process claim.

Product-by-process claims are not materially limited by the process limitations recited in the claim, but instead are limited by the structural features of the product itself.

4. Inventions of Group II and Group III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different functions. The Group III invention is drawn to a photomask, which includes patterns that will be transferred to a substrate. The substrate may be processed further to make a device. The Group II microdevices themselves are used in, for example, computers as memory devices or in electrical equipment, or battery-supported devices.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. A telephone call was made to Mr. Franklin Schellenberg on July 30, 2003 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Saleha R. Mohamedulla whose telephone number is (703) 308-1260. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F (8:00 to 4:30).
